CIFFA (Crossover International Festival of Film and Art) is a global celebration of bold storytelling, diverse voices, and visionary film-making. Co-presented by the Grand Theatre Center for the Arts and OWAF, CIFFA was created to remove the traditional barriers that often hold back independent creators—from costly entry fees to limited distribution access and a lack of visibility. We believe every filmmaker has a story that deserves to be seen, and CIFFA was built to make that possible on a worldwide scale.

This isn't just another festival—it's a movement. CIFFA offers guaranteed distribution opportunities for all accepted submissions, whether through digital platforms or theatrical screenings. We spotlight underdog filmmakers and elevate unheard voices, focusing on the impact of each project rather than its budget or origin.

From narrative features and shorts to documentaries, animation, web series, and even Al-generated content, CIFFA embraces the future of storytelling in all its forms.

Our festival is proudly inclusive and accessible, dedicated to creators from every corner of the globe. We are committed to building a cinematic space where borders fall away and creativity connects us all. With a lineup that features films, music, dance, art, food, and culture, CIFFA goes beyond screenings—it's an immersive, multicultural experience.

CIFFA Film Festival Schedule

Friday, Oct. 10: Opening Night with a Red Carpet & Press Event, Feature Film, Filmmakers Q & A, and reception.

Saturday, Oct. 11: Acting, Film-making, VFX/AI workshop, a collection of short film screenings, Q & A with Filmmakers, and three Feature Films.

It's the story of Life on Our Planet, a stunning new series chronicling the ongoing rise and fall of lives on Earth, from the cataclysmic events that reshape our ecosystems to the creatures that survived (or didn't) along the way. Because life always finds a way—but as this eight-part epic journey proves, the road from single-celled life-form to the biodiversity we know today was anything but drama free.
